

A Noble Life

Ensuring People with Disabilities DREAM IT. LIVE IT.

February 2026

Valentine's Day at the Statehouse

With clear skies and a temp a bit above normal, everything was set for the hundreds of individuals with disabilities, their support teams, service organizations and advocates to spend Feb. 12 celebrating Valentines at the Statehouse.

Organized by The Arc of Indiana and Self Advocates of Indiana, this annual event draws people from across the state to thank their legislators and elected officials for “Having a Heart for The Arc.”

As The Arc of Greater Indianapolis serving Marion and Hamilton counties, Noble always organizes several individuals and staff to participate.

This year, Phillip, Angie, David and Ryan were joined by staff members Kim, Tara, Kiernan and Rita in distributing valentines to the dozens of elected officials who represent various parts of Central Indiana.

Truly Committed to the Job

There are those who love their job, and then there are those who really love their job! Two men on our NEWS (Noble Employment and Workforce Services) team are definitely members of that second group.

This month, Guy (at right) celebrated his 40th work anniversary, while Derrick (at left) marked his 30th year since he was hired. Because NEWS is a contract work service that deploys labor solutions at companies around Central Indiana, NEWS team members have often worked at various job sites throughout their career on the team. Guy and Derrick, however, have spent most if not all of it working inside the company currently known as Corteva.

They've seen the company undergo tremendous growth, but whether it was called Dow AgroSciences or Corteva Agrisciences, their NEWS team remained an intrinsic part of its workforce. Their responsibilities include transferring plants to trays, washing & organizing the grates, and putting test tubes in racks. They are primarily based in the greenhouses, but are well known across the northwest Indianapolis campus.

According to their supervisor Matt Tarowsky, both men are among the hardest workers on their team and play pivotal roles because they know the “system” of what needs to be done and when.

In fact, when asked what he likes best about his job, Guy just smiles and says, “I like to wash the carts.”

Help BIG RED LIQUORS Round Up for Noble

Event title sponsor Big Red Liquors is holding a Round Up campaign for Noble in all of its Central Indiana stores so if you need to purchase adult beverages, please support this campaign.

Each year, as part of its sponsorship of Noble Evening in the Garden, Big Red holds a fundraising campaign for Noble. Rather than a traditional icon campaign (purchase an icon for $1, sign it and post it on the store wall), Big Red is offering the opportunity to round up your purchase to the next dollar. The difference goes to Noble.

As always, thank you for your support!
